[5104] distributed generation and distributed energy resources.

This decision adopts a program to provide incentives for the installation of solar energy technologies in California. The program, which the Commission calls the "California Solar Initiative" builds on the existing Self-Generation Incentives Program already in place for solar incentives. It follows a policy proclamation by the Governor favoring solar development and strong interest by the State Legislature in an expanded solar incentives program in California.

The Commission opens this rulemaking to continue the ongoing efforts to ensure reliable and cost-effective electricity supply in California through refinement and augmentation of its adopted program of resource adequacy requirements (RAR). Under this program, investor-owned utilities (IOUs) as well as the electric service providers and community choice aggregators operating within the IOUs' service territories (collectively, load serving entities or LSEs) are required to demonstrate that they have acquired the resources needed to meet their forecasted retail customer load plus a reserve margin. The Commission has determined that certain RAR program elements that have been proposed require further consideration before they can be adopted. This is the successor to the RAR portion of Rulemaking 04-04-003, and it will be the forum for such consideration.

The City of Petaluma is authorized to relocate an at-grade crossing of the railroad tracks of the Sonoma Marin Area Rail Transit District (SMART) according to the design set out in the Supplement to Application and the conditions set forth in this decision. Petaluma's authorization continues as long as Caulfield Lane terminates at Hopper Street, and no passenger rail service operates along the SMART tracks. This authorization shall expire in the event that Petaluma extends Caulfield Lane past Hopper Street or passenger rail service initiates along the SMART tracks, because changes in the intersection of Hopper Street and Caulfield Lane and the institution of passenger rail service may affect the safety, and may require changes in the rail crossing. In the event Caulfield Lane is extended past Hopper Street or passenger rail service commences along the SMART railroad tracks, Petaluma must apply to the Commission for continued authorization of this at-grade crossing.
